SEDALIA, MISSOURI, MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 16, 1907-PART ONE

VOL. 1, NO. 320. PRICE FIVE CENTS

PLACE WAS SET ON FIRE

THE SEDALIA WOOLEN MILLS, WHICH BURNED SUNDAY MORNING.

THE LOSS IS $50,000, OR $60,000

Insurance Is $42,000, Distributed Among a Number of Companies -Not Known Whether It Will Be Rebuilt.

There is little to add to what was printed in the Sunday Democrat-Sentinel regarding the burning of the Sedalia Woolen Mills early Sunday morning. Mr. Frank Hugelman, the manager, stated this morning, prior to his departure for Cole Camp, that the loss will be something between $50,000 and $60,000, with $42,000 insurance, of which $22,000 is in the agency of Quisenberry & Nelson, $17,500 in the agency of F. F. Combs and $2,500 in the agency of Miss Hope Hieronymus.

Asked as to the origin of the blaze. Mr. Hugelman did not hesitate to say that it was his belief that it was set on fire.

"My idea of the fire," said Mr. Hugelman, "is that thieves quised it. They broke into the plant through the coal chute, with the intention of carrying off a portion of the finished product.

"A match was lighted in the bas ment, and was dropped upon a bale of cotton. Instantly it was in a blaze when the thieves hurriedly left"

As stated Sunday, the water pressure was not what it should have been, or otherwise the fire would have been extinguished before it had gained any great headway.

Mr. Hugelman left at 7:15 o'clock for Cole Camp to confer with Lawyer Moore, attorney for the company, an other stockholders there, but it is not known at present whether the mills will be rebuilt.

The insurance in the Quisemberry & Nelson Agency was held as fol

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY IN CONNECTION WITH THE SILK FRAUDS.

Captured in Montreal, Brought Back. Taken to Sing Sing, Released on $30,000 Bail and Again Placed on Trial.

New York, Dec. 16.-Charles C. Prowne, formerly an examiner in the customs service at the port of New York, was brought to trial before Judge Hough in the criminal branch of the federal court today.

He is charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the Japanese silk frauds uncarthed about six years ago. He was indicted by the grand jury on counts oi conspiracy and fraud, and was found guilty of the former charge in the circuit court, but skipped his bail of $16,000 and fled to Montreal.

He was arrested in the Canadian city and after several hearings the Canadian authorities surrendered the fugitive, with the understanding that Browne was to be tried under the fraud indictment.

Instead, Browne was taken directl o Sing Sing prison, but his attorne. later secured his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Judge Hough decided that the federal authorities had erred in putting Browne in prison, and he was leased on $30,000 bail, pending his trial on the fraud indictment, which began today.

W. Wickman Smith, the special attorney general in the silk fraud cases, is prosecuting the case, while Browne is represented by ex-Judge William hand at the time of the failure. So far as could be learned from the schedule the greater part of Emerson Marlow & Co's holdings in storage houses was plastered to the limit, the prices advanced, of course, being in accordance with the market rulings at the time of consignment. Should the market on these different commodities drop to any material degree there is reason to believe that the so-called assets of Emerson, Marlowe & Co. would dwindle down to a much smaller sum than is given in

While not disputing the veracity of the receiver there are those in street who do not hesitate to say that they believe the assets are radically overestimated and that when the property is put up for sale the deficit will come nearer reaching $500,000 that the stated sum of $302, 350.83. It is Believed That Within a Couple of Years Archbishop Ireland Will Be Given the Red Hat.

Rome, Dec. 16.-Three new cardirals were created by the pope at a secret consistory in the Vatican today. They are Monsignor Gasparri secretary of the congregation of ex traordinary ecclesiastical affairs; Monsignor Lucon, archbishop Rheims, and Monsignor Anriep, archbishop of Marseilles.

Monsignor Kennedy, the rector of the American college, was created titular bishop of Adrianapolis, a high honor which has never before been conferred upon a rector, the appointment being officially announced at today's consistory.

Some time ago it was thought that Archbishop Ireland would be made a cardinal at this consistory, but this hope of American Catholics must again be deferred. The archbishop's friends in the sacred college are very active in his behalf, however, and it it thought to be only a matter of a year or two before the distinguished lia's marshal and his staff. Bonham's correct name is Hal Goodwin. According to the prisoner's confession, his father is a wellto-do liveryman, residing at 2421 North Flores and Craig street, San Antonio, Texas.

Goodwin has been following this line of business for some time. Once before he was, in trouble, charged with house robbing, but was released through his father's efforts.

According to Goodwin, he rotbed a number of residences at Wichita and pawned the stolen goods in the "hock" shops at Kansas City. Several articles which he could use in his business he kept, and had them in his possession when arrested.

Goodwin asked Chief of Police Boullt to notify his father at San Plattsburg in Clinton county, Satur-Antonio, hoping that the latter would come to his rescue. Chief Boullt went to Kansas City this afternoon to recover the pawned articles, but Sheriff Sprecher refused to 12t Goodwin accompany him.

Gerald Volk, of the Wichita Star, whose home was among the Wichita residences robbed, and Chief of Police Belford Wood, of Wichita, arrived here last night to recover the former's stolen goods.

Chief of Police Boullt and his efficient staff of officers are to be highly commended for the excellent work they have done during the last few months. LOUIS STERNBERG, A GROCER. AND WIFE IN KANSAS CITY, KANSAS.

THE HORRIBLE DEED OF ROBBERS

Man's Head Is Beaten With an Iron Bar, Woman's Skull Divided by Mea: Cleaver-Found in Store by Neighbors.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 16 .- Mrs. Fannie Sternberg, wife of Louis D. Sternberg, a grocer, who was killed Saturday night by robbers in their small store in the outskirts of Kansas City, Kas., died today of the wounds inflicted upon her by the mur-

Sternberg was instantly killed by the robbers, and the woman was horribly wounded. The robbers are still at large.

The crime was committed probably about the closing hour Saturday night. The cash register had been rifled and the little safe in the store taken from it and broken open. It is thought that the robbers secured about $300 or $400. This estimate is made by E. M. Sternberg, brother of the murdered man.

It was shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning when a neighbor living in the vicinity of the Sternberg store called to make a small purchase and discovered the crime. The police force was immediately notified and the entire department was put to work on the case.

The manner in which the crime was committed was made very apparent by the evidence found. On the counter directly in front of Sternberg's body was a can of sardines which had been opened and partially wrapped up. The conclusion reached by the police is that the robber, or there may have been more, had entered the store late Saturday night and ordered the can of sardines. Sternberg, after opening it, was probably in the act of wrapping it up when he received the death blow dealt by the robber. He evidently fell in his tracks. The robber or robbers then walked back of the counter and deliberately beat his head into a

With youth, health, good looks and vacation, it would seem the "oh, dear" exclamation was uncalled for.

Yet, in truth, there was Barbieand Barbie meant Carl and the children, and the general unhappiness of one of life's misfits. She did act derstand her sister-in-law; but this much she did understand: she thoroughly out of place here on this wind-swept knoll, a poor man's wife, her white, nervous hands chained by motherhood.

It was a glimpse into the kitchen which called forth the dejected clamation. Barbie was getting supper. She was a fragile woman, with great mournful eyes shining in small brown face. The small brown face was flushed with weariness, and a suspicious tremble came and went about her lips. A very fat boy baby kept catching at her dress as she passed him.

The open door framed a pleasant picture of sloping green and hedge row snowed over with bleaching linen. Three other children were out there, with their family of dolls and a pup. "No, I'm not-I'm practical. I-I've been studying about you and Carl all winter. It has seemed so selfish in me to be pegging away for myself-always for myself. I have paid my board and washing, and that is all either of you would let me do."

"It was enough," proudly. "Yes-superficially. But Carl is my dear only brother. And these are his babies. We all see the tide is setting against him. There is nothing but debt-debt-debt! Why should I be so dainty and comfortable, and you and Carl so wretched?" "Because Carl and I chose to risk

One thin, nervous hand went up to her throat. In there -in that delicate, wonderful organ of sound, lay her hope of greatness. Ambition was not dead-once born, it never dies. She had firm faith in herself.

The old scenes crowded upon her memory. The smell of musk and cologne, the flash of lights, the throb of the orchestra. Below, the upturned faces, rapt and listening, ready to storm her with flowers and applause. The world-her little world-at her feet, "I'll talk to Carl," she said.

Frankie's face was the last she saw as she leaned from the car window. Her tears made a blurred halo around it as it smiled its hopeful smile.

Frankie's eyes were wet, too, as she and Carl went dumbly back to the farm, which already wore the mournful look of having lost something.

Letters came regularly from the absent Barbara—brave letters, never betraying by a word the yearning for her babies, the loneliness of her life, the constant goading of an unseen foe. Temptation's insidious whisper kepi urging her from the path of duty, with its promise of fame, and alluring mem ories of the life she had loved.

Motherhood, God's special gracious gift to woman, hers in atonement for the narrower life, comes royally to some, to others with pain and questioning, but no less as a blessing. The opportunity to grasp them came naturally. It is not easy to hide the possession of a great natural endowment. She began singing in the choir of the church she frequent ed. Then she was asked to a parlor musicale, a concert or two, and then-"Your voice is gold," a famous op era manager said. "I am not afraid to prove it. heart, fiercely back rushed the tide to her reeling brain. What right had that old mistaken duty to call her? Through the day and night which followed, her soul, battle-wrecked and helpless, tossed like a ship torn by the enemy's fire. She realized there was no half-way ground. If she gave herself to art, it must be unreservedly. On the other hand was Carldear, blundering Carl!-her children, and the modern success of a schoolteacher. Carl was a sinking plank, falling her; but the little soft hands. God-like in their power, drew her shoreward.

In the dawn the conflict ended, the fever left her. Her window looking eastward, was an opal in the gloom. Outside the plaintive voice of a bird smote the silence. The wide gra circle of earth and sky was emptied for the incoming to God. He came, his feet shining on the eastern hills. The bird was a herald. A great Christmas feast, with a pound of Vermont turkey for each man, will be served on the vessels, the food for the great hanquet being stored in the refrigerator ship Glacier.

Jack will next be heard from at Rio de Janiero, the beautiful capital of Brazil, where he will spend the ten days from January 11 to 21. This ancient city, now transformed into one of the most beautiful capitals of the world, will give Jack a hearty welcome, and he will probably heave a sigh of regret when the ships hoist anchor and sail away for Punta Arenas, the most southerly city on this side of the globe. Three cups sifted flour, one-half cup of lard, one and one-half cups butter, Coal, Coal Coat-good Illinois Lump one-half teaspoon of baking powder, and Nut, Kansas deep shaft nut; a one cup cold water. Sift the baking good furnace and fair range coal at powder into the flour, cut the lard into the flour with a silver knife and mix it into a smooth paste with the water. Set away on ice for 15 minutes. Press the milk and salt out of the butter with a clean, cold, wet out your dough on a well-floured board, lay the butter on it, fold over and roll out until it is half an inch thick. Turn it over, fold each end into the middle, flour lightly and roll out again. Repeat this process at least three times and the butter will be worked into the flour without a touch of your warm hands. Heat makes pastry heavy. This pastry is etter if it remains on ice for half a day or more before using.

FIREMEN OVERCOME

A Score of Physicians Risk Death by Asphyxiation.

New York, Dec 16.-The novel sight of a score of physicians imperiling their lives to rescue firemen from a burning building was presented in East Eighteenth street Friday night, when one of the six buildings the gridiron with a tin pan or a baking of the Huyler Candy Manufacturing company was filled with deadly gases generated in some way by fire which started among a pile of paper boxes.

Fifteen fire fighters were overcome and of these, three are in a critical condition. One, Vernon McKenna, it was said, could hardly survive the all walks of life are suffering from | night.

SUDDEN DEATH SUMMONS

Mrs. E. S. Harte Victim of Apoplexy at Her Home in Knob M

With deep regret we chronicle the sudden death of Mrs. Ed S. Harte, R. L. McPherson, another trespas- which occurred at her home in Knob Noster between half past four and five o'clock Friday afternoon, says Saturday's Knob Noster Gem. She was alone at the time the summons came, and there was no warning given to her or her devoted husband that her life was to be taken. The physician who arrived shortly after Supt. G. V. Buchanan, of the public her body was discovered said that When her stepson, Houston Harte, came home from school he was Mrs. Harte in a half kneeling position, with her chin resting on the lounge, which she had evidently attempted to reach when she felt the attack of the unseen foe. The body was qute warm when discovered and even after the doctor arrived.

Neighbors were hastily summoned by the frightened boy, but Mrs. Harte was beyond all human aid. She was about 41 years of age and leaves no children of her own. Mrs. Harte was known as a good, true woman and her loss will be greatly felt in Knob Noster.

Her husband, Ed S. Harte, is one of the best known men in Johnson county, and his many friends tender him their sincere sympathy in his bereavement. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, December 15, conducted by Rev. Transfer Co. held their annual meet Boyd, of the Presbyterian church.

Marion, Ohic, Dec. 16.-John Gordon, a wealthy farmer of this county, burned $10,000 in bills yesterday a short time before he died. The charred remnants of the bills were found by members of his family, but as they were mostly ashes no attempt will be made to have them replaced. Gordon was 85 years old, and in the last few weeks had grown childish. He has steadfastly refused to put the $10,000, the savings of years, into a bank, but kept the money under his

Yesterday morning he amused himself by setting fire to them and watching them burn. Shortly before noon, when one of his sons entered the room, the remains of the bills were found and Gordon was lying dead on the bed. He had succumbed to heart disease.

A JILTED TAILOR'S CRIME

Otto Schmigler, of Columbus, O., Shot Two Women and Himself.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 16.—Otto Schmigler, a Hungarian tailor, shot and severely wounded Mrs. Caroline Webster and Miss Myrtle Spence and then killed himself yesterday.

The tragedy occurred at the home of Mrs. Webster, a grocer's wife, where Schmigler had a room. The latter had been out of employment for some time and was despondent. It is said Schmigler was infatuated with Miss Spence and that his ad vances had been repulsed.

Mrs. Webster was coming out of Miss Spence's room when Schmigler fired at her. It is believed he mistook Mrs. Webster for Miss Spence.

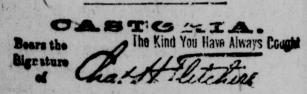

As the first shot rang out Miss Spence rushed into the hallway and Schmigler fired at her. Schmigler then shot himself. The bullet which hit Mrs. Webster penetrated near the heart and she is not expected to live Miss Spence will recover.

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Years of risky railroading on milea-minute Reading flyers to Atlantic City, N. J., left Engineer Matthew Langtry unscathed, but a minute pimple on his neck which he picked caused his death from blood pcisoning. The man died in agony, despite the efforts of skilled surgeons, who took desperate chances at operations in hope of having his life.

Langtry was one of the oldest engineers on the road, having been in the service twenty years, and he never had an accident. He was well known to hundreds of Philadelphians who rode on his trains. He weighed 353 pounds, and is said to have been the heaviest engineer in the world. He leaves a wife and small child. The body was taken to his aged parents' home on Atlantic avenue, Camden, New Jersey.

THERE MAY BE COUPLE OF THOUSAND ARRESTS AT OMAHA, NEBRASKA.

MANY DETECTIVES WERE AT WORK

Milkmen, Telephone Operators, Baggagemen and Druggists in List The Situation in Several Other Cities.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 16.—Although the lid was on, much Sunday trading was done in Omaha yesterday, groceries, meat markets and candy ctores being uniformly closed, but eigar dealers, druggists and many billiard and pool rooms were open, as usual. News dealers and stationers, in most cases, obeyed the law. Newsboys did a thriving business on the streets, with piles of newspapers and magazines. The Sunday saloon has been out of business in Cmaha for several weeks. Commencing midnight Saturday, with night editors and mechanical employes of the daily newspapers, the police took names of all Sunday workers and warrants will be drawn for their arrest.

If the test case goes against those who have been listed by the police, and it is decided they must pay fines for violation of Sunday laws, more than 2,000 citizens of Omaha will be arrested and fined. The minimum revenues to the city from fines will be $10,000, and the maximum $30,000. The city was divided by the police in six districts, and in addition to the regular patrolmen, each district had extra detectives detailed to watch for Sunday law violators and take the names of all. One or more men engaged in each of the following lines of business forted, and the city prosecutor will make out the complaints today: Automobile garage, passenger elevator conductor, milkman, cigar stand, choir leaders, drugs, poolroom, bewling alley, woodchopper, junk gatherer, blacksmith, photographer, livery stable proprietor (caught greasing a carriage), smelter employes, baggagemen, employe of ex tress company, telephone operator, bricklayer, car, plasterer, coal hauler, hodcarrier, clothier, managers of five theaters, bootblacks, brickyard laborers, barbers, two laundrymen and club employes. Charles E. Fields, editor of the or gan of Retail Liquor Dealers' associa mayor for absolute Sunday law enforcement, said last night that, so far as he could see, the police had done their full duty. Mr. Fields personally employed a number of detectives who watched the drug stores

> District Attorney Jerome is conducting the prosecution of the indicted insurance magnate. Hegeman is represented by John L. Lindsay, exjustice of the supreme court; Morgan J. O'Brien and John G. Milburn, the famous Standard Oil lawyer, who was recently engaged to assist in the defense. A special panel of talesmen has been drawn and it is thought certain that the trial will now proceed without further delay.

President Hegeman has entered a plea of not guilty to the three indictments brought against him. He is a man of striking personality and totally unlike the average type of New York financier. He wears his hair long, and this, with his smooth face and big slouch hat, gives him the appearance of the southern colonel of

The indictments against Hegeman grew out of testimony he gave before the grand jury, relating to certain collateral loans which had been made by the Metropolitan Life. There are three indictments, but if he is acquitted on the first the others will likely

The perjury indictments are based on reports, alleged to be false, made to the state superintendent of insurance to cover up year-end transactions of the insurance company.

Seven forgery indictments, also re lating to year-end transactions, were brought against Hegeman, but were dismissed by Justice Dowling, on the ground that the grand jury testimony showed no intent to defraud, even conceding that the entries were false. The evidence presented to the grand jury set forth that for a number of years it has been the policy of the Metropolitan Life Insurance coripany sisting of collateral loans and syndicate participations, on the last of the year to President Hegeman, and a few days after the first of the year to have them transferred back to the insurance company.

It is alleged by President Hegeman that the company, did not suffer through these transactions, but that it actually made money on them, and that while the reports to the in surance department may have been inaccurate, they were not false, in the meaning of the law.

MARK WATER TO A WAR IN A WAR

Salvation Army in New York City Is Arranging to Feed Twenty-Five Thousand Poor on Christmas Day.

New York, Dec. 16 .- Although that happy period has been reached when the days intervening before Christmas may be counted on one's fingers, there has not yet been in New York the great rush of shopping that usually precedes the holiday season.

Although all the great stores and shops are filled to overflowing with articles reflecting the Christmas spirit, New York has drawn its pursestrings the tighter and refused to spend. The financial stringency is of course, responsible for this condition. The New Yorker, ho usually gets rid of all his available cash at this period of the year, has become a "tight-wad."

This condition is reflected even more acutely in the condition of the coffers of the various religious and charitable societies. A month ago. when early contributions from a few men of wealth were being received and when financial affairs appeared to be on the mend, the officers of the Salvation Army and other organizations announced that the poor of the city were certain of their usual sumptuous banquet. Doubt has now taken the place of certainty, and it appears that, unless contributions soon take an upward trend, the annual charitable distributions of food must be greatly reduced.

On every important street corner the collection kettle of the Salvation Army may be seen, with a uniformed member of the army ringing a bell violently to call attention to the purpose of the organization to feed 25,-000 of New York's poor on Christmas day. In past years these appeals always brought a ready and liberal response. Now few notice the kettle of the Salvation Army, and pennies, nickels and dimes have taken the place of the quarters and half dollars that used to ring merrily in the ket-

The Charitable Organization society, too, is suffering from a decided falling off in its receipts, although it is being called upon to care for nearly twice as many families as last year. Last month the society added 250 needy families to its roll of 2,500, and applications for aid are now coming in by the scores. According to Secretary Devine, there are hundreds of families in the city who, through no fault of their own, are now face to face with starvation and cold, and who can be saved only by the prompt action of the charitable organiztions. The present winter is likely to be the hardest on the poor in recent years. Meanwhile New York is pulling its purse-strings tighter. manual

Mr. George B. Ellis, Secretary of the State Board, Addresses an Open Letter to Those Who May Be Interested.

The Democrat-Sentinel is in receipt of the following open letter, addressed "To Young Farmers of Missouri," from George B. Ellis, secretary of the state board of agriculture, Coumbia, Mc., and asks for its careful persual and mature consideration:

"Having been raised on a farm without the opportunites of a training given by the agricultural college, and in later life coming in close contact with the work being done by the agricultural college and experiment station, I believe I am in a position to know something of the value of such a training.

"There is something more to know about ploughing than running a straight furrow; something more to learn in feeding hogs and cattle than satisfying hunger; more to learn of the improvement of the soil than simply the spreading of manure; more to know of crop growing than the simple act of putting the seed into the ground.

A year and a half ago young Cathcart met Miss Von Haake in Philadelphia. He was then a student in the University of Pennsylvania. He took a small part in athletic, too, but he is by no means the striking figure Pritchard is.

Immediately Cathcart took a place in the train of admirers that followed the pretty Washington girl. He made many trips to the capital and soon became her adopted suitor.

Cathcart, a reticent, reserved young man was then about 23 years old. On June 22 they were married at the bride's home and went to live at Newburg. There a girl friend soon came to visit the bride. The two women had a most enjoyable time; so enjoyable that husband and wife had a row, and the two women left Newburg. This was on July 18, less than a month after the marriage. Neither

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Roct, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by drug-

TION OF MANY GIRLS IN BIRMINGHAM.

MANY FACTORY EMPLOYES DRINK

Committees Appointed to Investigate the Causes of Falling Off in Physical and Mental Capacities.

A startling revelation was made at meeting of manufacturers here this week, called together by a committee which was appointed some time ago to investigate the causes of the obviously falling off in their physical and mental capacities of the factory girls employed in the Birmingham mills, writes the Birmingham England, correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The committee reported that girls' drinking clubs in the factories existed to a large extent. These clubs were deliberately formed, it is said, for the purpose of surreptitiously introducing drink into factories or workshops, to be consumed in tea and for the promotion of other similar ways of celebrating birthdays, marriages and various social events connected with the staff; also for habitual drinking together by the girls in public houses after leaving work and on public holidays. The committee had evidence that the clubs were seriously affecting the moral character of many girl employes and unfitting them for ma ternal responsibilities. They appealed to the employers to insist upon the suppression of existing clubs and to prevent their establishment in any form, suggesting that adequate rules

Canon Denton Thompson, rector of Birmingham, who presided at the meeting, said that girls and women were encouraged and even coerced to scriptions are from ? to 6 cents, or even more, or else collections are made for the purpose, generally by some one in authority at the factory In some parts of the city the public houses become crowded by women and girls directly the factories are Drink is taken into some factories surreptitiously; in others, permission is actually given for the girls to have it. There is reason to fear that some of these drinking clubs were organized in the interests of the public house managers. The committee rec ognized the seriousness of this state ment, but they asserted that they had good authority for saying that persons in authority in some factories were authorized to encourage drinking habits among the employes.
